FR. BOB'S WEEKLY BLOG

And so, our Advent season begins.

We begin the four-week journey toward the Nativity of the Lord; a.k.a. Christmas. The invitation for us is to slow down; to avoid the urge to rush into Christmas. We see the rush all around us; a rush that now begins before we even celebrate Thanksgiving.

What should be a season of preparation and expectation risks becoming a frantic quest to buy material gifts and attend numerous parties so that by the time Christmas arrives, we're already Christmas-ed out. Just as the Church begins to sing Adeste Fidelis, a lot of people are already taking down their Christmas trees and prepping for New Years Day.

Let's slow down! One day at a time. One week at a time. One season at a time.

Jesus' message to his disciples and his message for us today is, "Be watchful. Be alert!"

Why? Because we do not know when the time will come; the time of our bodily death and/or the coming again of Christ in glory. We need to be alert to what really matters in the end. The reality of "the end" is supposed to wake us up to living the truth in love each day.

We begin Advent not merely by looking back but also looking forward. Yes, God the Father sent his Son into the world as a baby king in a manger in an obscure portion of the vast Roman Empire, but we're also preparing for Christ's Second Coming when all will be brought to fulfillment. Some folks forget the promise that awaits us. We're looking forward.

Please find more time for prayer during Advent. Prayer is more than rattling off memorized words. Prayer is intimate time spent with God. We get quiet. We get still. Let's be honest, this can be tough these days in our noisy, agitated world, but pray we must. If you need an idea, consider praying through the Book of Psalms during Advent. Fr. Kevin recently wrote in the parish bulletin about the beauty of The Psalms

There are 150 Psalms in a Catholic Bible. The Psalms take us on a journey of life's highs and lows. We can relate to them. Here's the very last stanza in Psalm 150. It reads, "Let everything that has breath give praise to the Lord! Hallelujah!

Staying present in Advent prepares us for the celebration of the Christmas season, which begins on December 25 and runs through the Baptism of the Lord on January 8.

May our hearts be receptive to the grace God desires to give each of us this Advent.

Mondays During Advent

Please consider joining us for the next three Mondays during Advent for a talk series on the Eucharist. We will gather at 7 PM on December 4 (St. Rene church), December 11 (St. Symphorosa church), and December 18 (St. Rene Church).

The Catholic Church in the United States of America is in a year of Eucharistic Revival. This revival will culminate next July in Indianapolis, Indiana with a National Eucharistic Congress. Tens of thousands of people from across the country will gather.

Fr. Kevin and I thought it was important for us to use Advent as a time to rediscover the gift of the Eucharist. Each of the three talks has a specific theme with the goal of helping us grow closer to the Lord and closer to one another.

We get no closer to the Lord in this world than when we receive Him in Holy Communion. We are not receiving a piece of bread. We receive Jesus; Body and Blood, Soul and Divinity. This is a dogmatic teaching of our faith and has been for 2,000 years. It's not magic but it is mystery.

A better understanding of the Eucharist helps us appreciate what a gift we are privileged to receive on a regular basis. We find ourselves growing in respect and reverence for the Blessed Sacrament, and this gift nourishes us in the spiritual life. Jesus knows we're hungry, and the Lord feeds us in the Eucharist.

Quote -- "If we but paused for a moment to consider attentively what takes place in this Sacrament, I am sure that the thought of Christ's love for us would transform the coldness of our hearts into a fire of love and gratitude."
-- Angela of Foligno

FR. KEVIN'S GREGORIAN RANTS

Having been prepared to celebrate the liturgy with reverence, attention, and receptivity, we sit down together to hear some readings from Sacred Scripture, and so begins the Liturgy of the Word.

As Catholics, we believe that the words in the Bible are from God. Jesus Christ is the supreme Word of God, but he mediates this to us as the words of scripture.

Pope Benedict XVI wrote that “the Word of God is given to us in sacred Scripture as an inspired testimony to revelation; together with the Church’s living Tradition, it constitutes the supreme rule of faith.” It is essential that, as Catholics, we have an intimate knowledge of scripture, for as St. Jerome said, “Ignorance of Scripture is ignorance of Christ.”

Lucky for us, the liturgy is the privileged place for hearing God’s word and receiving that word into our hearts.

The liturgy provides the structure and the context for how scripture is experienced in our daily lives.

It was the liturgy that gave form to the Bible, not the other way around. The books that were believed to have been inspired by God were those that would be read as a part of the Mass in the early Church.

The letters of St. Paul, the Gospels, and the Hebrew Bible (known to us as the Old Testament) were proclaimed so that the people could be nourished by God’s revelation to them.

Today, we have a total of four readings as a part of the Liturgy of the Word. The first reading is taken from the Old Testament and always has some relation to the Gospel of the day.

After all, the New Testament is concealed in the Old Testament, and the Old is revealed in the New.

However, during the Easter season, the first reading comes from the Acts of the Apostles as we hear about the life of the early Church.

The first reading tells us how God has been revealing himself and working in the world since the very beginning of time.

The second reading comes from the New Testament.

Usually, these are St. Paul’s epistles, but they can also be letters from other Apostles (John, Peter, James, Jude) or from the book of Revelation. These readings teach us about discipleship and what Jesus’ mission and life means for us as we live in the world as Christians.

On Sundays, the readings follow a three-year cycle, meaning we will hear the same set of readings every three years. We’re currently nearing the end of Year A, which features the Gospel of Matthew. Year B will start this Advent with the Gospel of Mark, and then Year C uses the Gospel of Luke. The Gospel of John is sprinkled into Year B and the Lent and Easter season.

“The Word was made flesh” (John 1:14), so it is important that we hear and understand the Word before we receive him in Holy Communion. When we hear how people throughout salvation history have listened and dialogued with God, we learn how to better listen and respond to him in our own time.

I encourage all of us to come to each Mass prepared to hear each reading.

One way to do this is to read them before you arrive, either by yourself or with your family.

All the readings can be found on the website of the US Congregation of Catholic Bishops. (<https://bible.usccb.org/daily-bible-reading>)

In this way, we attune our ears to hear the word during the Mass and can supplement our own reflections on each reaching with the priest’s or deacon’s homily.
